Authors' comments in Comic Cue Magazine

Tsutomu Takahashi

I got a call at midnight. "Hey Tsutomu, do you wanna do an 8-page one-shot?" "Geez, I'm really busy now, but I guess I can't refuse your request, Go." He tricked me. Oh well. Go is the bassist in my band, and he owes me one now, so he's not in a position to complain if the band suddenly starts doing more songs that I like. Isn't that right, Go?

Go Ohinata

Gahahaha! I tricked Tsutomu into drawing an 8-page one-shot! And I mixed it with my own art! He fell for it hook, line and sinker! So what did you think? It looks so fucked up, doesn't it? Gahahaha!

Sorry.

Go Ohinata's comment in his book, Genetic Level Tsurugi, in which this manga was collected

In order to give shape to the image I had in mind for the collaboration, it had to be an artist who drew in a style that was the polar opposite of mine. And then I read Tsutomu Takahashi's one-shot, "69" and thought, "he's the one!" I went to his office, where we debated and discussed the visions we both had. "Forget that this is going to be a gag manga. Draw this as you would draw any other Tsutomu Takahashi work". That was my main request him, and as a result, he came up with this fabulous art. Thanks.
